Listen to doctors and community leaders if you're hesitant about getting the COVID vaccine

Opinion

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

The biggest border policy

We know a lot of people want to come to the United States across our southern border.

But here's the big difference from the former President Donald Trump and President Joe Biden. We know that Biden is going to work with a coalition of nations to set the conditions for the people who are seeking asylum and those who are seeking to remain in the United States.

This is a negotiated policy that will allow us to manage the flow of people across our border in a way that is safe and secure for both the United States and Mexico.

Mark K. Baran, Haslet

Not everyone can get out

I am the caregiver for my husband, and I very much received my COVID-19 vaccine. I was able to make an appointment and get vaccinated with no issues and without any complications. This was a fantastic experience.

Mark K. Baran, Haslet

His 'bad day' turns awful

He was having a bad day.

So said Cherokee County Sheriff's Deputy Trudy Lecky when last week's mass shootings occurred. "We lost three lives, and we had a dozen injuries."

Lecky is a 12-year veteran of law enforcement in the department of public safety.

She said she was there when the gunman entered the FedEx facility in Atlanta.

"He shot at the building and then started running," she said. "We had a large police response, and we were able to clear the building safely."

Lecky said that the gunman was later caught and taken into custody.

"We were able to save lives and prevent further violence," she said. "It was a very difficult day for everyone involved."